Receipts of Flour, Wheat and Corn at the West.

The receipts of Flour, Wheat and Corn at the principal receiving points in the West during the past week compare with the week previous as follows:

	PAST WEEK.			PREVIOUS WEEK.
	Flour, bbls.	Wheat, bus.	Corn, bus.	Flour, bbls.	Wheat, bus.	Corn, bus.
Chicago,	38,719	215,467	259,263	25,533	289,243	202,405
Milw'kee,	10,951	263 201	1,750	11,556	357,061	1,376
St. Louis,	11,080	116,455	14,972	10,646	62,870	10,014
Cincinnati	24,625	51,063	31,739	20,537	65,618	28,155
Toledo,	30,546	94,539	95,827	15,265	51,193	51,227
Detroit,	33,161	37,454	1,761	28,119	40,235	....
Total,	144,113	775,212	404,412	119,676	975,215	293,180

One of the principal features in the above table is the falling off in the receipts of wheat of about 200,000 bushels, and the increase in those of corn of upwards of 100,000 bushels. The receipts of Flour show an increase, but not as great as the above figures would indicate; for both Toledo and Detroit received during last week, upwards of 15,000 barrels, which were shipped from Chicago by the Michigan Southern and Michigan Central Rail Roads, and Detroit about 2,000 bbls from this city, shipped by the D. & M. Railway for Eastern markets. It will be seen that Milwaukee again takes the lead on receipts of wheat, beating Chicago nearly forty-eight thousand bushels, and receiving as much as St. Louis, Cincinnati and Toledo all together.

The Republican Gain in New York.

At the State election in New York, one year ago, the vote for Governor stood as follows:

Parker, (Dem.)	230,513
Burrows, (Am.)	60,880	291,393
Morgan, (Rep.)		246,953
Democratic and American majority		43,240

This year the Republicans have reduced the 43,440 majority against them to little, or nothing, and have carried both branches of the Legislature by the largest majority they ever obtained. That will do for 1859. In 1860 they will gain another fifty thousand.

RACINE COUNTY OFFICIAL.—The Racine Advocate brings us the official vote of Racine County, as follows:

Heg	2158	Fleck	1590	568

W. P. Lyon is elected to the Assembly from the 1st district, by 249 majority; L. L. Baldwin, in the 2d, by 19; Knud Langland in the 3d, by 295, and F. A. Weage, in the 4th, by 121—all four Republicans.

Two years ago, RANDALL'S majority in Racine County was 300. Republican gain 177.

ROCK COUNTY OFFICIAL.—Old Rock gives 2511 official majority for RANDALL. This figure wins a "pile" of bets for sundry Republicans in our city. The favorite wagers were Rock County against the city of Milwaukee, and on 2500 Republican majority in Rock. As the city only gave Hobart 2400 majority, the Republicans win on both "events." We have an affectionate remembrance of Rock and OZAUKEE Counties.

WAUSHARA COUNTY OFFICIAL.—The Wautoma Journal brings us the official figures on Governor. Randall's majority in Waushara County is 744, and Bugh's (R.) for Assembly, 210. Two years ago, Waushara gave 690 majority for Randall.

ED. SENTINEL:—Our "horrible board" have this instant finished our County Canvass, with the following result:

Randall	504
Hobart	203
Randall's majority	301

Be gorra! I cast the odd vote meself!

Hastings runs 12 ahead of Randall, and the majority for Van Steenwyk and the balance is 300 and 310.

There appear to have been about five "Weak Baptists," who "drapped" Pickard, and voted for Fool Carpenter's gum stick 'em boss.

Light vote—rained.

We are fearing that Cutler, (dem.) is elected. Wood's majority in this County is 259. The Juneau County Seat question run the politics of that Republican County.

Respectfully, YE SHANGHAI.

Reply to a Query.

Correspondence of the Sentinel.

BROOKFIELD, Nov. 17, '59.

DEAR SENTINEL:—JOSEPH LUNN, of Sauk County, inquires through your paper of today, to know if JOHN LUNT, who was killed by the late railroad accident near Watertown, was his son—thinking the name might have been mis-spelt. I can assure him that the above was his right name, though it was spelt Lund in many papers. He was several years older than what Mr. LUNN states his son's age to be. NYM CRINKLE.

ENGLAND AND FRANCE.—The dread of a "French invasion" is evidently gaining strength and intensity in England. The organization of Rifle Corps is going on in every quarter; and almost every newspaper we open—from the Thunderer down—has a leader on the subject. The London correspondent of the Manchester Guardian, writing just before the departure of the Asia, says;

> Still the same uneasy feeling in the minds of all with whom I exchanged ideas on the subject of our foreign relations, exists. I am afraid that this uneasiness grows more and more serious the nearer we mount to the fountain head of public action. I believe it will be found at its highest in the cabinet, in spite of Lord Palmerston's persistent effort to put the best construction on the words and acts of the crowned sphynx of the Tuilleries.
>
> At the War Office, the rifle volunteer movement is being actively pushed.
> To such an extent has the coldness between the two governments proceeded, that we are told France will only contribute six thousand men towards the Chinese expedition. Meanwhile, the greatest activity continues to be exhibited in the English as well as the French dockyards. Three splendid ships had just been launched—the Irresistible, 80 guns, and two heavy frigates, the Immortalite, and the Narcissus. A considerable augmentation of the departments at Woolwich was forthwith made, and such is the anxiety of the authorities to obtain an adequate number of riggers and caulkers, that a bounty is offered to artisans of this description, as well as an increase of pay.

THE WAY OF THE TRANSGRESSOR IS HARD.—Amongst a party of counterfeiters arrested a few days ago was an old man named TIMOTHY L. BIGELOW, sixty-six years of age. He is in very poor health, and seems to think he has been poisoned by some of his confederates, who once before attempted his life for the sake of his ill-gotten booty. The story told by the old man of this attempt upon his life, is one of the most remarkable in the annals of crime, and it is said that he bears on his person unmistakable evidence of its truth. He says that in May last he started to go down the river to New Orleans; that he stopped on an island with some of his confederates. He had then on his person $1,000 in gold in a belt, and a gold watch and chain valued at $300. They mixed his liquor with something that stupified him, or probably as they believed, killed him. What next he knew was when he recovered his faculties and found himself in darkness, pressed down with a heavy weight. With long and severe labor he released himself, and found himself alone on the island, well nigh naked, and robbed of all his valuables. The cowardly wretches—his would-be-murderers—had actually buried him alive, beneath a heap of logs and brush-wood. The old man is a perfect wreck, and can scarcely walk a rod without support.

Death of two Prominent Citizens.

MONTGOMERY, ALA., Nov. 17—3 P. M.

John H. Murphy and Wm. Larkin, two prominent business men of this city, died on Wednesday last.

The Election in Grant County.

Grant county, as far as we are able to judge, has given about 800 majority for the State Republican ticket, and Mr. Virgin's vote for State Senator will be about 100 less than the majority for State officers. Of the Assemblymen there are four out of the five that are Republican, being a gain of one on last year, James W. Seaton being the only Democrat elected. Next week we will publish the official vote, as it will then be canvassed; but this week (in consequence of having to put our paper to press on Tuesday afternoon, because of changes in the mail for Lancaster and the west and north-western portions of the country,) we find it impossible to publish it, as we have not the full returns by us.

The following gentlemen are elected to the Assembly:

1st District, J. K. Spottswood, Rep.; 2nd do, James W. Seaton, Dem.; 3rd do, Jonathan B. Moore, Rep; 4th do, S. F. Clise, Rep.; 5th do, Geo. Ballantine, Rep.—Grant County Witness, Nov. 16.

THACKERAY'S PORTRAITURE OF AMERICAN GIRLS.—The completion of "The Virginians" confirms an opinion before expressed. There are three American ladies in the book, and not one of them loveable. Lydia Van den Bosch is an ill-mannered, uneducated flirt, and title hunter. Madam Esmond Warrington is a bigoted, tyrannical, quarrelsome old woman, whose treatment of her sons is such as to make them almost hate her. Mrs. Mountain is up to the mark as an ordinary housekeeper, well-disposed enough, but ignorant, unrefined. Her daughter Fanny, is a good-natured, affectionate silly girl, before marriage, and a slouchy, untidy, avaricious, husband-ruling, semi-shrew, afterwards. After a long visit to America, and a cordial reception to the firesides of hundreds of our best fast families, says the Baltimore American, these are the likenesses Thackeray draws of American ladies. It may be he is saving finer portraits for a better novel. We hope so. But the truth is, Thackeray is souring more and more as years increase upon him. His domestic life, if we hear aright, has been most unhappy. A man of the world, with no home but the club-room, the natural turn of his mind for satire is ripening daily into coarse ferocity. As age advances, the edge of his wit is dulled. To compensate for this dullness, he repeats himself at tiresome length, seeking to effect, by continued and laborious effort, what he formerly accomplished with ease and dexterity. Of late years his blows, especially upon women, have been brutal.

VIRGINIA FORESTS ON FIRE—TWO THOUSAND ACRES OF FLAME.—We learn from a gentleman who has just returned from a deer-hunting expedition in the vicinity of Rowlesburg, on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, that the neighboring mountains are on fire. Our informant saw, night before last, not less than two thousand acres of solid flame, affording one of the grandest sights he ever beheld. In one place, on the top of a peak, the flames stretched up to the height of the loftiest trees, flapping their red and glaring wings in the most terrible manner. A great deal of timber and tan bark that had been hewed and prepared by the mountaineers is being destroyed, and the fire has already eaten its way through the mountains, a distance of twenty miles. The mountaineers drag the burning leaves away from their cabins, and suffer no personal injury beyond an uncomfortable warmth. The first good rain that comes will put the fire out. The fire in the mountains, from its frequent occurrence, has ceased to occasion any great degree of alarm.—Wheeling (Va.) Intelligencer.

RETORT COURTEOUS.—In the case of McLean against the County Commissioners, pending in the United States Court, H. Stanberry, Esq., had occasion to quote from a decision of the Supreme Court. The citation contained a long Latin sentence, which the counsel rendered for the edification of the court. Judge McLean humorously remarked, that "The court can dispense with the counsel's bad Latin." "Very well," retorted the counsel, "but, may it please the court, the Latin's your own. I quoted from your opinion." The gentlemen on the bar and the gentlemen of the jury exploded, but the court gravely took the matter under advisement.—Cincinnati Commercial, 11*th.*

THERE is a cave two miles south-east of Dodgeville, Iowa Co., which the editor of the Advocate and others have visited: They had to descend about 80 feet by a rope before reaching the cave, and then crawl in on all fours. They visited seven apartments, the largest being a room 66 feet long and 45 feet wide, and between six and seven feet high. This room, although formed not by the hand of man, excels any architectural design the editor ever looked upon; its walls resembling solid blocks of stone, polished exquisitely; the ceiling, 66x45 feet, is one entire solid rock, level as the ceiling of the finest parlors in the land. The cave, although at a depth of 80 feet below the surface of the earth, has little purling streams, gliding snake like and harmoniously through all its cavernous depths.

THE WOODS ON FIRE!—For the last week or so, the wood land in this vicinity has been on fire. Much damage has been done, as a great deal of cord wood has been entirely consumed, besides fences and cornfields suffered to a great extent. How this fire originated it is hard to tell—everything being dry as powder it spread rapidly, and was over a large extent of land before it was discovered, and the whole country was enveloped in a heavy, dense smoke. The young timber for miles around is entirely ruined, and the damage done may be estimated by thousands instead of hundreds of dollars.—Salem (Ill.) Advocate, 10.

SPOT ON THE SUN.—A spot of remarkable size, it is said, is now visible on the surface of the sun, more than 60,000 miles in diameter, or eight times the diameter of the earth. It can be seen without difficulty with the aid of an opera glass, the eye, of course, being protected by a screen. The area occupied by this disturbance of the sun's surface, is about three thousand millions of square miles, some fifteen or sixteen times the whole surface of the earth. As the spot was near the center of the sun on Saturday, the 20th of October, it will be visible some days yet.

LAST WEDNESDAY, while some of our citizens were firing the cannon, on the strength of the county seat news, it suddenly exploded, sending the pieces through the air in every direction. Fortunately no one was injured. One piece, weighing about 18 pounds, was thrown some sixty rods over the tops of the houses. Another piece struck on the roof of a building near by, went through the roof and ceiling and landed on the floor. The explosion was caused by not properly ramming down a wad of wet hay, which was put in the cannon to make it "speak."—New London Republican, 15*th.*

RAILROAD COLLISION.—About six o'clock on Saturday evening last, the eastward bound passenger train on the Chicago and Rock Island Railroad, ran into a freight train on the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne and Chicago road, at the Junction, six miles South of this city. Further than that no lives were lost, and that the locomotive of the passenger train was badly wrecked, we are not able to give particulars of the accident.—Janesville Times.

THE CITY.

The Grain Trade.

The wheat market was quite active early yesterday, at 89c for No. 1 spring and 92 to 94 for club and extra, but the news of a decline of 2 cents at New York, was followed by a decline of 1a2c here. Sellers however, were unwilling to accede to the views of purchasers, and the market closed very dull. Receipts were light, but twenty thousand bus., not including flour. Shipments were 5,534 bbls flour and 54,907 bus wheat.

THE NEW MAIL ARRANGEMENTS.—The mail route has been changed. Eastern mails for this city and places West of here now comes by the way of Chicago. It comes regularly, and we get our share of it just about twenty-four hours later, than we have received it all the season (with four exceptions we believe) by the Detroit and Milwaukee Railway.

Perhaps this arrangement will be satisfactory to the Wisconsin's local, and the News' "Plebian," but for our part we don't fancy it at all. We have one consolation, however, under these circumstances; TUNIS & Co., the enterprising news dealers, on Wisconsin street, have made arrangements to get the N. Y. dailies via the D. & M. Railway, from 24 hours to two days in advance of the mail.

SPEEDY AND EFFECTUAL JUSTICE.—We were the fortunate witness, yesterday, of an act of justice, meted out to a canine, which for novelty and celerity, is not equalled in the records of the dog war, up country.

A gentleman was walking down Cass St., with a child, probably about four years old, by his hand; when just below Michigan St., a cur bounded from a yard, and snapped at the child violently, frightening it very much. The gentleman released the little hand, and deliberately followed the dog back to the yard, cornered it in a turn of the fence, and adroitly catching it by the loose skin of the neck, brought it, cy-yi-ing at a fearful rate, to the street, when he caught its two hind legs in his other hand, and swinging the entire bundle of dog flesh around him once, brought the head in such violent contact with a lamp-post, that the noise was instantaneously hushed, after which the gentleman flung the carcass into the street, and taking the child's hand again, proceeded on his way as though nothing had happened.

UNIMPORTANT ITEMS.—If WEIRD'S ice-boat should ever succeed, and should carry the mails, could it strictly be called a post-off-ice-boat?

WHO IS NYM CRINKLE?—"Dear Mr. Editor:—I wish to know who NYM CRINKLE is; whether he has a local habitation and a name; whether he has any more distinguished and talented sister's-in-law; whether he is ever seen where his letters are dated; whether he is good looking, &c., &c., &c.? Can't you vouchsafe a little light on a murky subject? Does he write for fame, or for lucre? He is'nt a literary brother of "BERTRAM'S," is he? I think it is due to the public that it should be introduced formally to this CRINKLE who is so prominently before it. I love him, already (in a platonic way) for his brass and ubiquity. I take pride in being called a strong-minded woman, and I have been led to think, by a close observation of the CRINKLES that have appeared of late, that "NYM" would make a good husband from his very contrary mental organization. How is it? MISS IDIOSYNCRACY QUINCH."

SINGER'S SEWING MACHINE.—The acknowledged superiority of this machine over all others, the reasonable price for which it can be obtained, its adaptability to all kinds of work, is so well known, that we do not feel called upon to add our testimony to the mass that has already been published, but we refer our readers to the advertisement of J. R. WILSON, the Agent, who keeps a large supply on hand at No. 17, Newhall House, and who is always ready to display any amount of testimonials, and to operate the machine for visitors who may give him a call.

THE ILLUSTRATED LONDON ALMANAC FOR 1860.—This is a very handsome publication—the first of this kind ever offered for sale in this city—and may be found at the Newspaper and Periodical Depot of W. E. TUNIS & Co., on Wisconsin Street, one door west of Main. It is decidedly ahead of anything in the Almanac line that we have yet seen.—TUNIS & Co., have, besides, all the latest publications. Give them a call.

PARAGON PORTABLE GAS LIGHT.—We write this article by the light of a new self-generating portable gas light, which, for simplicity, is ahead of anything we have yet seen of the kind. The inventor claims that it is the best in use. They can be seen at WOOLSEY & SHAW'S, corner Main and Wisconsin streets.

CURIOSITY.—Mr. MILLER, type founder, of this city, has shown us a pebble picked from the lake shore by a young daughter, and which, curiously enough, exactly resembles the bottom part of a man's shoe. It is a crynoidal formation and is partly polished by the action of the water.

A Foolish Rivalry.

One of the newspapers of this city—the one, too, that makes an ostentation of its friendship for Chicago interests, and care of the various enterprises which have made this a great city—is constantly and foolishly keeping up an appearance of rivalry between Chicago and another very thriving and promising city, our neighbor, Milwaukee. The way, as everybody knows, for one to convince the world that he is afraid of his neighbor, is to keep forever boasting that he fears nothing. It often has the look of whistling thro' trying circumstances to keep up courage. If Chicago is well enough, it does not appear quite right or prudent to stop business and turn to pick flaws in the character of any other city. For in no such way can Chicago benefit herself or injure another. And by thus doing, we virtually acknowledge a rival, and not only so, but betray too much nervousness lest that rival shall take the lead. Now this is all no less than ridiculous. We do not recognize this sort of rivalry between Chicago and Milwaukee; Chicago is Chicago—Milwaukee is Milwaukee. If there shall be on this Lake a second New York and Philadelphia—and there will be—what harm? We must have a city here vast in extent and population, and magnificent in wealth. And what disadvantage can it possibly be to us, to have Milwaukee a great city too?

But if any one in Chicago would check Milwaukee, and prevent that city from going ahead as fast as wealth and enterprise can operate on natural advantages of harbor and site, and can open up and extend the avenues of its trade—such an one exhibits in himself a foolish covetousness; and when this is discovered to the world, the enemies of Chicago will not be slow to attribute the folly to us as a community. Taking this view, we cannot hold back from censuring one of our city cotemporaries for its absurd occasional paragraphs lampooning the Detroit & Milwaukee line of iron steamers. They do no good to this city, but more harm than a little. They are ungenerous, and tend to exasperate sections of the country against Chicago; and besides, they are generally untrue. The last paragraph that we have seen, was, stating that one of the steamers mentioned was the other day, very badly damaged and seriously imperilled in the storm. This we happen to know to be a mis-statement; both these fine steamers are, and have been since the start, in excellent condition. We do not say this for Milwaukee, but to rebuke such Chicago newspapers as affect a dread of Milwaukee enterprise, and a jealousy of its prosperity. That sort of abuse is not creditable to Chicago, and is not, we imagine, very displeasing to Milwaukee. These steamers are ornaments to the lake: they are for service, and there is no probability that they will be taken off.—Chicago Daily Times.

THE GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY of CANADA

PUBLIC NOTICE.—The extension of the above Railway to Sarnia, and the completion of the New Line between Port Huron and Detroit, on the 1st of November next, will form a continuous Road under one Management from Detroit, (Michigan), to Toronto, Kingston, Montreal, Quebec and Portland, (Maine), thus establishing a new First Class Route between the Western and New England States.

The connection formed at Detroit with the Michigan Central and Michigan Southern and Northern Indiana Railroads, will enable Freight to be sent through from St. Louis, Cincinnati, Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and all points on the Mississippi River, with greater dispatch than by any other route, as the completion of the Great Victoria Bridge at Montreal, before the close of Navigation, will prevent any interruption to the traffic. Only one transhipment between Portland and Chicago, Cairo, or St. Louis.

At Portland the Grand Trunk connects with the Railroads leading into Boston, also with a First Class Line of Powerful Steamboats which leave Portland and Boston every night.

The identifying parties have proceeded to Wytheville, for the purpose of examining another suspected fugitive.

RICHMOND, Nov. 17—9 P. M.

A despatch was received this evening from Col. Davis at Charlestown, to Gov. Wise, requesting him to send immediately two companies of cavalry, and stating that five barns and out-houses have been burned to-day; it was supposed by sympathizers with Brown.

The Kidnapping Case.

BARNSTABLE, Nov. 17—9 P. M.

The case of the fugitive slave Columbus Jones was resumed to-day. Prosecution concluded their case; the defence contended that the slave was an involuntary deposit in the hands of Captain Bacon, which he was bound in common law to keep safely and return.

About 25 witnesses were examined. The defence then put in as evidence a deposition taken in Florida. Objections to the evidence were made at every point, and much testimony was excluded. The question whether the subsequent ratification of the acts of the defendant by the owner of the slave would have the effect of an original agency, was discussed; decided against the defendants.

THE SENTINEL.
DAILY, TRI-WEEKLY & WEEKLY.
RUFUS KING, EDITOR.
FRIDAY MORNING, NOV. 18, 1859

PROCLAMATION—THANKSGIVING.

ANOTHER YEAR, with its varied experiences and vicissitudes, has nearly gone, the seed time and harvest have passed away, and the products of the earth more abundant and excellent, in many respects than usual, have been gathered in. Our State has been favored by an overruling Providence with exemption from pestilence or any prevailing disease, and the commercial and financial distress, under which our land has so long suffered, seems to be approaching an end. As a State we have been free from civil disturbances, and men have gone about their daily avocations in peace and quietness. As a nation, too, we have been exempted from the scenes of blood which have been the result in other lands of the shock of contending hosts.

It is right that we should, as a people, render the tribute of our thanks to the Author of all good, for the establishment and continuance of our free institutions, for the general health and prosperity of our people, for the blessings of peace, for the privileges of free education, and freedom to worship God according to the dictates of conscience, and for all the unnumbered blessings, individual and national, so bountifully showered upon us.

Therefore, in accordance with the time-honored usage, I do hereby recommend to the people of Wisconsin that they observe THURSDAY, THE 24th DAY OF NOVEMBER NEXT, as a day of THANKSGIVING, and that, abstaining from their secular avocations on that day, they unite in their several localities in grateful praise to Almighty God, for his constant care and abundant mercies.

In testimony whereof, I have hereunto subscribed
L. S. my name and caused the Great Seal of the State to be affixed.

Done at Madison, this 25th day of October, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and fifty-nine.

By the Governor,
ALEX. W. RANDALL.
J. D. RUGGLES, Ass't Secretary of State. oc26

Kansas and Harper's Ferry.

We have no excuse to offer for the unlawful and crazy conduct of Old Brown.—Sentinel.

In 1856, when it was supposed by the Republicans, that the perpetuation of civil war in Kansas was essential to their success in the Presidential contest, the editor of the Sentinel did everything in his power to foment strife there, and John Brown was chosen as an instrument to execute the nefarious and bloody work which was laid out and planned by the Kansas Aid societies.—News of yesterday.

"The Editor of the Sentinel" never did anything of the sort. So far from fomenting "strife and discord" and perpetuating "civil war in Kansas," the effort of the Republicans, here and elsewhere, was to prevent "civil war," and to put down the "strife and discord," which the Border Ruffians of Missouri and their Doughface allies of the North were seeking to "foment." The attempt of JOHN BROWN to liberate the slaves of Virginia was a mad scheme enough; but the organized effort of the "Blue Lodges" and Border Ruffians of Missouri, backed by a Democratic National Administration, to force SLAVERY upon the People of Kansas, and the damnable means by which that nefarious project was sought to be carried out, were infinitely more atrocious than anything that JOHN BROWN has done. The Democratic National Administration, the Democracy South and the Doughface Democracy North, were all art and part in this "nefarious and bloody work."—When Kansas was invaded by the Missouri Border Ruffians; who went robbing, burning and murdering through the land, the Democratic press, with here and there an honorable exception, had not a word of condemnation for these abominable outrages. The mission of the invaders was to establish slavery in Kansas and, in the eyes of Sham-Democracy, the end justified the means. It is only when a handful of fanatics attempt to give freedom to the enslaved that the Democratic organs scent treason in the act; and seek to hold the Republican party responsible for it. It is upon this issue that the People of New York, New Jersey and Wisconsin have just pronounced their verdict. We need not say that it is entirely satisfactory to the Republicans of the whole country.

The Use of Money.

The Albany Atlas & Argus characterizes the use of money at elections, as an evil that cries loudly for reform. We think that the practice in this State is obsolete—not so much on account of any conscientious scruples, as for the want of the money to use; and if the State of New York will elect such Governors as Bashford and Randall, they will soon reform every abuse growing out of the use of money.

* * * * * *

There is no danger of any harm being done with money until we get a change of Administration in Wisconsin.—News of yesterday.

Here is encouragement to the people of Wisconsin to persevere in well-doing. So long, says the News, as the Republicans control the State Administration in Wisconsin, "there is no danger of any harm being done with money." We agree with the News in this opinion, and take occasion to remind our readers that matters were very different under previous Democratic rule, when the State Treasury, the School Fund and the Land Office offered excellent "pickings," and furnished liberal supplies of "money" for election uses. We have reformed the "evil" of which the Argus complains.

SENATOR SUMNER.—The Massachusetts Spy, alluding to the story told by a Washington letter-writer, to the effect that the Hon. CHARLES SUMNER is "about to resign his seat in the Senate, marry a wife, and take up his permanent residence in England," says:

"The fellow invented this story. Nobody told him so. He had no warrant for it. Mr. Sumner is now on his way home, and he will probably be in Boston before the close of the present week. He is in excellent health, and will take his seat in the Senate when Congress assembles."

NEW YORK CENTRAL RAILROAD COMPANY.—The following is a statement of the earnings of the New York Central Railroad for the month of October, 1859, as compared with its earnings for the corresponding month of the previous year:

1859	$720,202 16
1858	652,660 51
Increase	$67,541 65

ANOTHER VICTIM TO "SQUATTER SOVEREIGNTY."—The telegraph has already announced the appointment of EX-M. C. HATCH, as P. M. at Buffalo, vice DICKIE, removed.—The Buffalo Commercial thus explains:—

We do verily suppose that Mr. Dickie has become too much mixed with Douglasism, and that the endorsements of the Administration in the conventions of this city and county have been too feeble to afford satisfaction to the gentleman in the white choker at Washington.

On the other hand, Mr. Hatch has been game throughout. He faced the music on Lecompton, and sustained the Administration "sink or swim, live or die, [illegible] perish." If every political [illegible] survive or a reward, Mr. Hatch [illegible] service deserved substantial, [illegible] is entitled to something

BUCHANAN IN THE FIELD.—The Philadelphia (FORNEY'S) Press, in some speculations about the Presidency, says:

"It is clear that Mr. Buchanan is in the field for re-election. The programme is a very simple one. He expects to unite the South at the Charleston Convention, after a contest between others, and, with the aid of Northern votes, to secure a nomination; then, by the aid of a united Southern vote at the November contest in 1860, he looks forward to the Electoral Colleges of Oregon, California and New Jersey to swell up his vote, so as to leave the decision of it to Pennsylvania. When the contingency arises 'may we be there to see.'"

PIERCE COUNTY.—The Prescott Transcript of Nov. 12, gives returns from all but one town in Pierce County, and says:

The Republican majority in this county has come up from 135 in 1857 to 216 this year. Cannon, two years ago, had a majority in this county of 87 over Foster, and Moore, the Republican candidate for Senator got the same majority. Cox, Republican candidate for Senator, has a majority of 327, and this is a fair criterion for the district.

THE WOUNDED AT WATERTOWN.—The Watertown Democrat of yesterday contains the following gratifying intelligence:

We have the pleasure of making the most encouraging reports of the wounded at the Planter's Hotel. They are five in number, viz: Van B. Smead, Julius M. Stebbins, T. F. Craig, James Page, and James McCabe.—They are all doing well, and some are able to sit up. We also learn that the injured at Fond du Lac and Oshkosh are recovering, and are beyond further danger.

IMPORTANT HAUL OF COUNTERFEITERS.—The Chicago Press and Tribune has an account of the arrest of a gang of counterfeiters by the Chicago detectives, who had their headquarters in Cordova, Rock Island County Illinois, on the Mississippi River. They were traced out by C. P. SMITH and WHITNEY FRANK, of BRADLEY's detective police, Chicago, together with JACOB REHM, City Marshal of Chicago, and on Saturday night, after a short fight, were arrested in the act of taking possession of their entire outfit of tools, materials, &c. Their names are TIMOTHY BIGELOW, aged 66 years; CHESTER C. CLARK, aged 25 years, and JAMES SMITH, aged 26 or 28 years, formerly an employee on the M. & M. R. R. These men are known to have been connected with another party of "money makers," whose arrest a short time ago at Galesburg, furnished a clue to their discovery.

THE SHOOTING CASE IN ILLINOIS.—Some time ago we mentioned the shooting of a mail agent named WILLIAMS, at Carlinville, Ill., by G. R. HUGHES of that place. WILLIAMS has died of his wounds, we believe.—The cause of the difficulty was—Mrs. HUGHES HUGHES and WILLIAMS had been friends for many years, and the latter was intimate in the former's family. A criminal intimacy was discovered, and WILLIAMS ordered to leave and never again visit the house. He did not heed this order and hence the revenge of HUGHES, who, after firing the shot gave himself up to the Sheriff. The community generally justify the act.

The Central Park.

On Saturday last a portion of the new drive in the Central Park was for the first time opened to the public. The day was not of the brightest and cheeriest, and the clouds put forth threatenings of showery favors, which were not realized, but which had nevertheless the effect of detaining from the new center of rural attraction many who would otherwise have been too happy to assist, by their presence, at the inauguration of the drive. Still, despite the unpropitious look of the weather, splendid carriages, filled with admirable and admiring women, were numerous, and numbers of gay horses, bestrode by men more or less anxious, and ridden in other fashion by women more or less dashing, pranced, and ambled, and sidled, and did their curvetings and caracolings, and other equine ground-and-lofty gymnastics, greatly to the delectation of the riders themselves, and the admiration of the pedestrian multitude. There was but one opinion about the new drive—unbounded admiration and delight—and the whole scale of appropriate adjectives and adverbs was called into constant use to pronounce the universal verdict. The variety of terms employed to give expression to the one idea was great. The ladies bore their dainty testimony to the fact that the place is "delightful," "lovely," "enchanting," "ravishing," "exquisite;" the gentlemen thought it "glorious," and certain male animals, whose philological attainments run in a slangular direction, were of opinion that it was "high," "gallus," and "bully."—All were pleased, all satisfied, and bore willing testimony to the admirable taste of those who have had the arrangements in charge, and to the thoroughness with which they have executed their work.

The roads in the Park are from 40 to 60 feet wide, of the most substantial character, being made on what is known as the "Telford" plan. The lower stratum is of large blocks of stone, upon this is placed a thick layer of small broken stones, which layer is carefully hammered down, and the surface is then overlaid with gravel, and the whole rolled down with immense stone rollers. It will be readily perceived that a road of this description is not only smooth and hard at first, but it gets smooth and solid by age and use, and is almost indestructible; the wear of ordinary travel would make no impression for years. It is sloped gradually from the centre to the sides, where gutters carry off all the surface water, so that the traveller can never be annoyed with ruts or puddles. The new drive is probably superior to any other carriage-track in the United States, except, perhaps, the celebrated shell-road at New Orleans.

There are four entrances for vehicles, the first at the corner of Broadway, Eighth Avenue and Fifty-ninth street; the second at the corner of Fifth Avenue and Fifty-ninth st.; the third from Eighth Avenue, near Seventy-ninth street; and the fourth at the corner of Seventy-second street and Fifth Avenue.

Entering at the south-western gate, the visitor passes the great cricket and ball ground; and then crosses two bridges, one of New Brunswick stone which spans the bridle road, and one of brick and stone combined over the southern transverse road, and soon reaches the parade, a level about a quarter of a mile square. At a point above Seventieth street, or over half a mile from the entrance, the road branches toward the west, and makes a half circuit of what is to be the great lake, but is at present completed no farther than Seventy-ninth street. This part of the drive crosses another beautiful bridge of New Brunswick stone which spans a gully, hereafter to be an arm of the lake. The central portion of the drive runs past the promenade, at the northern part of which is the noble terrace, now incomplete, which leads to the lake. Driving by the promenade and turning northward, the visitor soon finds himself in that beautiful part of the grounds known as the Ramble, and which has been fully described in these columns heretofore.

Returning southward, there is a finished drive along the eastern side of the Park, passing some beautiful lawns, the old Arsenal, and other objects of interest, and terminating at the corner of Fifty-ninth street and Fifth avenue. The road running through the center of the lower part of the Park is finished on both sides of the transverse road crossing at Sixty-fifth street, but the bridge at that point is not ready for vehicles.

There is a regulation of the Park prescribing that vehicles shall not travel faster than five miles an hour, nor equestrians more than six. This is a very necessary law, as otherwise the fast men who delight in 2:40 time and spider-web trotting sulkeys would speedily convert it into a trotting-ground — Roads where fast men are permitted to indulge in their peculiar sports are unpleasant for pedestrians, unless they have a fancy for having their necks broken; but in the drives of the Central Park the "sports" will have to subdue their passion for rapid locomotion, and conduct themselves for the time like respectable citizens.—N. Y. Tribune, Nov. 14.

From Washington.

Correspondence of the New York Tribune.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13, 1859.

The President is free in expressing the opinion that no treaty with Mexico is to be expected. Contrary speculations are wholly unauthorized. Mr. McLane returned for observation only. A member of the British Legation in Mexico, reached here yesterday, and describes the condition of things as shocking at the capital, there being no safety for life or property.

The physicians attending Senator Douglas have formally stated in writing that his disease is gout in the stomach, to relieve themselves from the professional responsibility of a silly contradiction which some of his indiscreet friends prompted. Senator Douglas is improving, and the crisis is considered past, though care is still required. Mrs. Douglas is gradually convalescing. Both have been in extreme danger.

There is no purpose entert[illegible] ing Mr. Dallas, as it is [illegible] ined of re-calling might persecut[illegible] feared that such step which is [illegible] him into the Presidency, [illegible] the last thing desired here.

The correspondence concerning the San Juan affair cannot be communicated to Congress, as negotiations are still pending, and the President will so announce in his Message. The British feeling is more subdued, according to the indications here, though no answer is yet received to Secretary Cass' despatch vindicating our claim to the island.—Gen. Scott has full authority to settle the existing conflict, and possesses the confidence of both sides. The Administration frankly informed the British Government that Gov. Harney's act of exclusive possession was unauthorized, and we recognized the principle of joint occupation, admitted by Secretary Marcy, until the boundary line could be determined. This disposition still exists, and it is believed that Gen. Scott will restore the former status as the practical means of relieving the difficulty. While these views are entertained, the Administration emphatically asserts the American title to the island, and entirely sustains the position of our Commissioner, Mr. Campbell, whose report and surveys are accepted as the text in the controversy.

The ratified Chinese treaty is expected in the next steamer, though neither the Department of State, nor British nor Russian Legation have any positive information to that effect. It is inferred from previous intelligence.

Mr. Hatch, late Member of Congress, has been appointed to the Buffalo Post Office.—Nearly all the wounded Lecomptonites are now pensioned, according to agreement.

Affairs at Charlestown, Va.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 13, 1859.

Considerable excitement still exists at Charlestown. The Mayor has issued a proclamation, and appointed a committee to look after strangers, and bring them before a justice of the peace. Mr. Hoyt and Mr. Jewett received notice from Col. Taylor that they were not safe, and accordingly left. Arriving here to-day, Mr. Jewett was accused of being the correspondent of the New York Tribune, whose letters had caused considerable ill-feeling. Mr. Jewett represents himself as one of Frank Leslie's artists.

THE WRECK OF THE ROYAL CHARTER.

Loss of Four Hundred Lives.

From an English paper, Oct. 29th.

One of the most lamentable catastrophes resulting from the present fearful gale is the loss of the auxiliary screw-clipper Royal Charter, belonging to the Eagle Line of Australian packets, sailing from Liverpool to Melbourne, and managed in Liverpool by Messrs. Gibbs, Bright & Co. The vessel, which was announced as off Queenstown at 3 P. M. on Monday, 58 days out from Melbourne, was caught in the gale on the night of Tuesday, when she went ashore in a place called Moelfra Bay, near Puffin Island, on the coast of Anglesea. At Queenstown the Royal Charter landed about ten of her 440 passengers, and so far as is yet known upwards of 400 lives have been lost, only 28 persons—viz., 19 sailors and 10 passengers being saved. The Royal Charter had also a general cargo of wool, and 70,000 ounces of gold.

The first intimation of the disaster reached Liverpool between 10 and 11 P. M., on Wednesday night. The news created the utmost consternation; the Underwriters' and exchange rooms were crowded with anxious inquirers, but owing to the breaking of the telegraph wires, no authentic details were procurable till late in the day, when a list of the saved was made public.

The following is a letter from the boatswain's mate to his wife:

MOELFRA, ANGLESEA, Oct. 26.

My dear Wife—I have the most melancholy news to send you. The ship was wrecked in a most terrific gale from the N.N.E. All hands lost except, to my judgment, about twenty-five; and, thank God, I am one of the saved. The captain and all the officers are lost. The carpenter and I are the only two left belonging to the officers' department.—Go the office and tell this, and ask them if Captain Martin is coming down to us, for the carpenter and I won't leave her until he either comes or sends us directions to go by. All of us have been very hospitably received and relieved by the inhabitants of this village, and the Coastguard officers have provided us a place to live in until Messrs. Gibbs, Bright & Co., or Lloyd's agent take us away from this.

Your affectionate husband,
GEORGE SWAGER.

The carpenter, in a letter to his wife, dated Moelfra, Red Wharf Bay, Oct. 26, says:

My dear Wife—I am sorry to inform you that the ship is a complete wreck. She has gone to pieces this morning, about 5 o'clock. There are only 25 to 30 of us saved out of about 400 souls.

Mr. Gardner, one of the passengers who landed at Queenstown, furnishes from memory a list of the passengers on board the Royal Charter. He left Mrs. Gardner on board, and he has gone down to the scene of the wreck. There were, he says, 450 souls on board, 60 of whom were cabin passengers.

The Royal Charter was an iron vessel of 2,749 tons register, built and rigged as a clipper, and furnished with engines (auxiliary screws) of 300 horse power, by Messrs. Penn, of Greenwich. Her length was 320 feet, and her breadth of beam 41 feet 6 in. She cost upwards of £90,000, and at the time of her loss her market value was about £70,000: this is fully covered, we understand, by insurances on her, effected in London to the amount of £80,000. We have not been able to learn any reliable details as to the insurances on the gold and general cargo.

Passengers arrived at Liverpool yesterday evening from Bangor state that the Royal Charter had broken up, and that the country people had commenced plundering. The local authorities had sent for the assistance of the military, and it is stated that an application for assistance has also been sent to Capt. Meux, of Her Majesty's ship Hastings, now lying in the Mersey.

FURTHER DETAILS.

(By British and Irish Magnetic Telegraph.)

LIVERPOOL, Thursday Midnight.

A letter, dated Beaumaris, Wednesday evening, and addressed to the editor of the Liverpool Daily Post, states that at dusk this evening the only parts of the ship standing were a small part of the stern, with the wheel and the screw-fitting apparatus, and a fore compartment. The ship struck at three on Wednesday morning, and broke up at seven. Before striking, her cables parted one after another. She tried to steam off the coast, but, the wind blowing a hurricane, she rapidly drifted ashore. Bluelights and rockets were fired for several hours before she struck. Several bodies have been washed ashore, the majority greatly mutilated. Men were picking sovereigns off the rocks, and an efficient coastguard was much wanted, the collector of customs doing his best to protect the remains of the ship and cargo.

Mr. Wagstaff, another gentleman who visited the wreck last evening, has made a statement which tends to show that Captain Taylor, deeming it hazardous to make the Mersey in such a fearful storm, hove the vessel to, and then she drifted into Dulas Bay, where the anchors were let go, but the screw kept moving, in order to ease the strain upon the cable. At 2 A. M. she went upon the rocks. Mr. Wagstaff states that a negro seaman swam ashore, with a line to which a hawser was attached, and that two persons were in this way saved. Doubtless many more might have been rescued by the same means had not the vessel parted amidships, letting the engines though and engulphing the whole of the people on board. It is understood that when the rigging was cut away to ease the vessel it became entangled with the screw, and the latter thus became useless. The bodies which have so far been discovered are for the most part dreadfully mutilated. The rocks were strewn with money and valuables belonging to the passengers. A bag containing 100 sovereigns was picked up, and large quantities of loose sovereigns also found. The boatswain's mate, saved, brought away 400*l.* with him. Mr. Smith, the collector of customs, was indefatigable in preserving order and preventing plunder after the wreck. A detachment of men from the Hastings frigate lying in the Mersey has been sent to assist the local authorities. As the Royal Charter had the latest dates, her passenger list was not fully known, nor can it be until the arrival of the next overland mail.

Reporters who visited the wreck to-day have just returned. They state that on arriving at Point Lynas the captain sent up signals for a pilot, but without success. When the vessel first struck, Capt. Taylor went down into the saloon and told the passengers to keep up their spirits, and that there would be little danger if they kept calm and obeyed the instructions of the officers. A clergyman, the Rev. Mr. Hodge, was most assiduous in his attentions in giving religious comfort and offering up prayer. The repeated strokes of the vessel, however, upon the rocks told too plainly the story of destruction, and soon the passengers became fearfully alarmed and excited. When she parted, large numbers of the passengers were crushed to death beneath the falling funnel and other portions of the machinery. Mr. Stevens, the chief officer, was killed by the falling of the rigging.—When last seen alive—and he was the last man seen on board—Capt. Taylor was clinging to a spar; he cried, "there is hope yet," when, according to one reporter, a boat fell from the davits upon his head, and he perished. Several of the crew saved themselves by the hawser before described, and others of the survivors were saved by swimming and taking hold of floating spars, [illegible] partially accounts for the [illegible] This stance that not a single [illegible] melancholy circum- female was saved.—She sailed from [illegible] Melbourne on the 26th of August [illegible]

SHIPMENTS.—Considerable grain has been sent below since our last issue, but not much has been bought. Wheat is now bringing but 50 cents per bushel, and not many are buying at present at that price. The following is our list since the 5th:

CITY AUCTION ROOM.

HOME AGAIN, AFTER BEING ABSENT for nearly a month; have seen no city more promising or inviting than our beautiful City, Milwaukee. Find business in all the cities generally dull, except New York, and dull particularly in all real estate operations. Money is abundant in New York, Boston, Philadelphia and Baltimore; in any one of these cities money can be obtained at six per cent, for home securities, but at present they prefer not to invest or loan on Western property; but that is wearing away very rapidly. A much better feeling now exists towards the West than there did six months ago, and I have no doubt in my own mind that in six months or twelve months we shall see a great reaction in all operations in our city, and still a greater one if we will manage to pay up promptly the interest on our city indebtedness. I came home feeling delighted with Milwaukee. I have seen no place to compare with it, or that I would be willing to exchange it for, and I am satisfied in my own mind that we will go ahead and grow more rapidly the next five years, than we have for the last ten years. I am, myself, perfectly contented with Milwaukee. Let us all cheer up. Milwaukee is too important a point to be overlooked. In conclusion, I would say I am now ready to attend to my Auction and Commission business in the usual way, and all business entrusted to my care will be faithfully and strictly attended to. My Auction Room is very large, and I can store any amount of Goods.

On my way home through Baltimore, I stopped at Harper's Ferry and obtained one of Capt. Ossawatomie Brown's Pikes. All who have any curiosity to see this instrument of death, call at my Auction Room. CALEB WALL,
City Auctioneer.

I HAVE THE FOLLOWING PROPERTY which I want to exchange for Dry Goods, or any other description of Goods:

First—A good Farm in Juneau County, Wisconsin; twenty-five acres under fence and in cultivation; a log cabin, such as we all were accustomed to live in when we first came to this country, twenty-five years ago; a good stream of water running thro' the entire farm; 40 acres of it is heavy timber. A large settlement surrounds the said farm.

Second—I have that large brown house, opposite Post Office on Wisconsin st., which contains about twenty-five rooms and rents for about one thousand dollars.

Third—I have two horses, one perfectly sound, kind and gentle; the other is somewhat foundered; but take the pair together and they make a good team for family use. Also, in connection, I have a carriage, buggy, wagon, sleigh, two sett harness, two side saddles, two mens' saddles, three bridles, whip, &c., &c.

Fourth—I have three hundred acres of school land in Marquette County, Wis. This land has been selected, as all other school lands. Now, all the above property I will exchange for Dry Goods, &c., or for any good city property. The said property is free from all incumbrances. CALEB WALL,

Catarrh! Catarrh! Catarrh! Catarrh!

What is it? How Cured?

Thousands of persons suffer all sorts of annoyance from Catarrh. Most people know what its inconvenience and results are, yet but few know how it can be cured. It is simply a chronic irritation, and of en enlargement of follicles, and consequent thickening of the mucous membrane, lining the nasal cavities, frontal sinuses, and posterior nares, and sometimes extending into the throat and lungs. From this result tightness and often vertigo of the head, obstructed nose, or a profuse flow of mucus, loss of smell, nasal voice, and often impaired hearing and taste.

The old-school remedies have never been able to do anything for it. Nasal infections and inhalations are as painful and expensive as they are generally worthless. Yet HUMPHREYS' CATARRH SPECIFIC, a simple Sugar Pill, taken two or three times per day, promptly cures the milder cases; cures at once all colds in the head, and radically cures, by persevering use, the most obstinate cases, as is proved by the experience of hundreds.

Price, with full directions,

FIFTY CENTS PER BOX.

N. B.—A full set of HUMPHREYS' HOMEOPATHIC SPECIFICS, with Book of Directions, and twenty different remedies, in large vials, morocco case, $5; do, in plain case, $4. Family case of fifteen boxes and book, $2.

These remedies, by the single box or case, are sent by mail or express, free of charge, to any address, on receipt of the price. Address,

It greatly facilitates the process of teething, by softening the gums, reducing inflamation—will allay all pain, and is sure to regulate the bowels. Depend upon it, mothers, it will give rest to yourselves, and relief and health to your infants. Perfectly safe in all cases.

This valuable preparation is the prescription of one of the most experienced and skilful Female Physicians in New England, and has been used with never failing success in millions of cases.

We believe it is the best and surest remedy in the world, in all cases of Dysentery and Diarrhœa in children, whether it arises from teething or any other cause.

If life and health can be estimated by dollars and cents, it is worth its weight in gold.

Millions of bottles are sold every year in the United States. It is an old and well tried remedy.

LOVER'S VOWS.

They wander'd 'neath the woodland boughs
A maiden and her lover,
Soft seem'd the path beneath her feet,
And bright the sky above her;
He spoke, and she kept listening still,
Breathing her low reply, "I will!"

"Thou'lt be my bonnie bride," quoth he,
"My gentle, loving wife,
The sunshine of my happy home,
The comfort of my life?"
His eye was on her, calm and still,
She whisper'd softly, "Love, I will!"

He took her hand—"These fingers small
Shall soothe my troubled brow,
If coming years bring darker clouds
And deeper griefs than now;
But thou'lt be near to cheer me still!
She answer'd fondly, "Love, I will!"

"Those soft, sweet eyes of thine," he said,
"So tender and so true,
(Methinks I never saw till now
How deep their violet hue,) They'll beam through life as fondly still?"
She look'd up smiling, "Love, they will!"

"And when the hour of sickness comes,
It may be, too, of death,
Thou wilt be near to tend, and soothe
With love my latest breath?"
The hand in his lay cold and still,
And tears half choked her wild "I will!"

And then they parted—he to build
High hopes of wealth and fame,
And she, in fervent prayers, to breathe
The one loved, cherished name.
He once had said, "Pray for me still?"
And she with joy replied, "I will!"

Now ye who read all I have told
About this lady's lover,
A very strange, though common thing,
Will surely here discover;
He spoke of all she'd be to him,
And yet I must aver,
He never said a single word
Of what he'd be to her!

THE MURMUR OF THE SEA.

[CONCLUDED.]

It was at this time that, standing with the family one day, Captain Thurston remarked: "Mr. Strafford, though I am not yet a believer in anything like premonition, such as your murmur of the waves, still I fear I shall not live to see the port to which we are bound.—The dead who have left us tell the story.—Their fate almost convinces me. Even should the plague assail us no more, we are so short-handed that a storm would prove too much for us. I will make for the nearest port, at any rate, and—" His jaw became convulsed as he spoke, and Mr Strafford and his son bore him below. The plague pain was upon him; and while he lay in agony he cried, "I, too, now hear it—distinctly hear it as ever I heard the moaning of a coming hurricane. It is horrible, and yet it cannot be real. The day is fair. And now I hear it louder—it grows dark—and now the roar of breakers. Strafford, Strafford, you are right!—I die!—but Heaven spare you and my poor men!"

Within a few hours the captain was a corpse; and when the survivors committed his manly figure to the sea, unmitigated despair settled upon every soul. One of the men who had sailed with him on many a voyage would have plunged in the waves after him, but he was restrained by his mates; yet they might have spared their kindness, for within an hour the pestilence had placed its virulent finger upon his heart, and grief and life went out together.

Day waned, and flushed with a glorious smile the broad blue face of the ocean, where now but a few scarce perceptible swells denoted the subsided breeze. Night mounted with her stars, and their calm gaze watched the sleep of the watery world with the same immutable lustre, as if affliction formed no part of God's great plan; and all beneath their light was as happy as those beyond it. How their changeless loveliness and eternal round of duty mock the pride of crumbling men! They shone, and our world moved round, and morning streaked their placid wave, and the bereaved ship stood almost still, as if pausing to mourn over those she had left behind. But more were to follow them. Some slumberers of that peaceful night awoke—but there were only four! The family of Strafford emerged from their berths, to find that theirs alone had been the sleep of life. Of the crew who, when they went to rest—if rest it could be called—were warm and breathing men, some they saw lying upon the deck with wild, distorted features, dead, as they had fallen in the still watches of the night, none but brother sufferers to hear their dying groans, or breathe a word of sympathetic prayer; while others were found on the cabin floor, where they had rolled in their agony, as if greater space than a berth could afford had been sought by them, to give them a better chance to wrestle with death.

"They are all gone," said Mr. Strafford; "Moina, Marcius, Ellena, before we perform as well as we can their funeral rites, let us talk with God. Kneel, kneel, my loved ones."

The morning light, in all its coursing, never fell upon a holier or more touching spectacle than that family of four presented as they knelt together in a circle on the deck of the ship, feeling every moment that the unseen minister stood ready to strike them, while with folded hands they lifted up their souls to the hearing of their Maker.

Mr. Strafford had just passed the meridian of life, and the gray streaks mingling with darkness of his hair, made more impressive the the manly look which beamed from every lineament. He was a man of time and care; his face seemed to symbolize the nobility of that nature which had fought the battle of life with honor, and which, now summoned to resign it, on the very edge of eternity sent up its last appeal. His wife Moina, the bride of his youth, knelt beside him, even as she had knelt at the altar; and her frailer figure, still comely, and her purely feminine grace of countenance, which had captivated him of old, contrasted strongly, yet appropriately, with those of her husband, with whom, and with her children, she now momentarily expected to go before the throne which he addressed.

Marcius and Ellena, facing them, side by side, blending their looks, the looks of both in each, knelt there, the mournful representatives of man's and woman's estate. Her mother's shining curls were hers—here more luxuriant; and in her prayerful attitude they dropped upon her brother's folded hands, almost as if they were conscious of the kindred touch, and rested there to listen. And there, death's work around them, the husband and father prayed for the souls of those who had started from port with them, and had reached their final port before them; and then for the living, so strangely spared to die, one family together, How could death tear so fair a group from life? How could fate doom such a group to death, thus cruelly robbing them of their long-cherished hope? They rose from their knees and performed the burial of their unfortunate companions, and now awaited each other's passage, not to a home on earth.

"There is little breeze and no hope," said Mr. Strafford; "But Marcius, let the ship keep her course before the wind, while we hold communion with our own souls. Are there no ties, my children, which make you unresigned, which make you reluctant to yield your lives to Him who bestowed them? If so, take heed, and be well prepared for approaching hour. The murmur of the sea forewarned us of it; our utter loneliness here in the midst of the ocean, in this late bustling ship, as plainly tells of its coming; and whether by plague or tempest, it will soon be upon us.

"Father," said his son, "I believe I never feared death, but to tell the truth, I do shun it, for Ellena and I are young, and both have long looked forward to a union with hearts that love us. The girl that I love is at home, waiting for the tidings of our arrival. I cannot be reconciled to a death like this, which tears me forever from my long cherished hopes. And Ellena—think of her and of him who so eagerly awaits her coming."

"Dear father, dear mother," said the daughter, bowing her golden head upon her mother's cherishing heart, while her tears fell fast, "don't let us think we are to die thus. Some vessel may approach and take us off. We may not die. God will not be so hard with us. Let us think of these we would all see at home."

A storm was darkening in the horizon.—While the parents and brother attempted to allay the wild anguish of Ellena, a black and rising tempest flung its scowl of wrath upon all before it and beneath it, and scaled the heavens as if to hide from their rebuke the mischief that it meditated. Swift as the wings of Æolus, and driving ahead the dreadful avant couriers of the wind and hissing waves, on came the spreading monster towards the ship, and the ocean moaned at his unwilling co-operation.

"The murmur of the sea!" the murmur of the sea!" said Mr. Strafford, "This is the murmur of the sea we so long have heard—the very sound, the very aspect of the heavens and the waters in my dreams. Cling closer to me, wife—my children! The hour is come! This is the death-song of the sea!"

They cling together convinced of their fate. The ship flew, bounded, rushed along. Her every sail was set as it had been left by the sailors in the calm of the evening before; and straight before the hurling storm she fled, dashing the flying waves aside in the giant madness of despair. And still the family clung together. Love was in their hearts and defied the elements to sunder them—That was human love. But the love of God was with them too. He led the ship. He stayed the waves from washing them away. He raised, He guided, burst the tempest, and He quelled it—for the stately ship rode securely. As sudden as its birth, the hurricane expired. The heaving billows in its track still bore the gallant vessel, still held the family alive, secure, and seemed to fawn upon the bulwarks as they kissed them.

When this was seen, hope lit upon the vessel and chased its lingering doubt away.—The half-paralyzed family arose, wondering at their safety, and went in confidence below. Night came, and morning. With morning came a ship. They were rescued; and now the murmur of the sea was recognized as but a premonition of calamity to others, not to themselves. Heaven saw them home in safety; and the land of liberty, when it welcomed them back to her happy shores, gave Marcius Strafford the girl whom he adored, and made Ellena a bride.

MOREHEAD'S
MAGNETIC PLASTER

THIS ENORMOUS QUANTITY OF this invaluable Remedy has been purchased by citizens of the United States during the short time it has been before the public. It perform all that is promised, and carries with it its own recommendation. Truly this is a Victory—peaceful and bloodless—but we believe not less glorious than the triumphs of war, with its train of carnage and desolation.

The MAGNETIC PLASTER is undoubtedly the Greatest Strengthener and Pain Destroyer that Science has yet discovered. If you put this Plaster anywhere, if Pain is there, the Plaster will stick there until the Pain has vanished. The Plaster magnetises the Pain away, and

Its use is agreeable, and without annoyance or trouble. Its price is within reach of all—rich or poor; all may have it, and all should have it who are sick, and suffering in any way.

FARMERS and PLANTERS should always be supplied with the MAGNETIC PLASTER. It will be the Good Physican in any household, ready at all times and at instant notice.

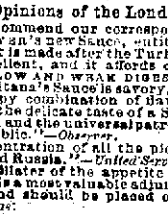
SOYER'S SULTANA SAUCE.

For Hot or Cold Dishes of all Kinds.



THIS MOST DELICIOUS and appetising Sauce was invented by the renowned "SOYER," on his return from the Crimea, and since his decease is manufactured by CROSSE & BLACKWELL, London, from the original recipe. The manufacturers simply ask for it a trial, convinced that it must add to the already large consumption, and that it will prove itself unequaled, either as a stimulant to the appetite or an aid to digestion.

Opinions of the London Press

"We recommend our correspondent to try Monsieur Soyer's new Sauce, entitled the 'Sultana's Sauce.' It is made after the Turkish recipe; its flavor is excellent, and it affords considerable aid in cases of SLOW AND WEAK DIGESTION.—The Lancet.

"The Sultana's Sauce is savory, piquant, and spicy; a happy combination of flavors and essences worthy of the delicate taste of a Sultana, the genius of a Soyer, and the universal patronage of a discriminating Public."—Observer.

"A concentration of all the piquant resources of Turkey and Russia."—United Service Gazette.

"As a titillater of the appetite this Sauce stands alone. It is a most valuable adjunct to, Fish, Flesh, or Fowl, and should be placed on every dinner table."—Atlas.

"The Sultana's sauce is a most delicious zest."—Morning Chronicle.

DIAPERS, &C.—CONSUMERS OF RICHARDSON'S LINENS, and those desirous of obtaining the GENUINE GOODS, should see that the articles they purchase are sealed with the full name of the firm, J. N. RICHARDSON, SONS & OWDEN, as a guarantee of the soundness and durability of the Goods.

This caution is rendered essentially necessary, as large quantities of inferior and defective Linens are prepared, season after season and sealed with the name of RICHARDSON, by Irish Houses, who, regardless of the injury thus inflicted alike on the American consumer and the manufacturers of the genuine Goods, will not readily abandon a business so profitable while purchasers can be imposed on with Goods of a worthless character.

BININGER'S OLD LONDON DOCK GIN

A. M. BININGER & CO.,

(ESTABLISHED 1778.)

SOLE IMPORTERS,

No. 335 Broad Street, New York.

THIS DELICIOUS TONIC, ESPECIALLY for the use of the Medical Profession and the Family,

Possesses those INTRINSIC medicinal properties, [Tonic and Diuretic] which belong to an OLD AND PURE GIN.

The business of manufacturing spurious Gins, and offering them as beverages, under the titles, "Aromatic," "Cordial," "Medicated," &c., has become so common that the public are justly suspicious of nearly everything that is offered under similar forms, and the trade has thus been brought into disrepute. It has remained for our house (established in 1778) to supply the pressing popular need, and to inaugurate a new era in the history of the Trade. We trust that our established reputation—founded upon eighty years of experience—abundantly vindicates our claim to public confidence.

N. B.

A comparison of "Bininger's [Old London Dock Gin" with others bearing similar names, will establish its superiority, and make other Caution unnecessary.

The wheat market was pretty active during the early part of the day, but yesterday's outside figures for No. 1 Spring were not reached by 1c, that grade selling at both northern and southern depots at 89c on the track and in store. After the receipt of New York despatches a decline of 1c took place, the same quality selling at 88c, with few buyers even at that price.—No. 2 sold at 86½@87c; Club at 92@93c; Extra at 94c, delivered. Sales in all were about 35,000 bushels, mostly made early, to complete two or three cargoes shipped in the afternoon. The demand for flour was less active and prices about 10c lower. Transactions were confined to some five or six hundred barrels of country brands at $4 for Superfine, and $4,25@4,50 for fair to choice Extra Wisconsin. Receipts of dressed hogs are increasing very rapidly, the active competition amongst packers keeping prices strained to the highest point. Not less than 600 head, dressed and live, came in to-day, of which 463 were received by rail road, and the balance by teams. Lots averaging 200 pounds and upwards sold at prices ranging from $5,37½ to $6. One of the nicest lots of dressed hogs we have seen this season was sold by Messrs. Eliot & Holmes to E. Radis. There were 11 of them averaging 270 pounds, bringing the round price of $6 per hundred. These prices are something higher than dealers could pay to pack for Eastern markets, as provisions rule at the present time, but the packing now is principally to supply immediate orders from the lumber and mining districts.

CHICAGO, Nov. 16th.—Receipts: 2,676 bbls flour, 19,501 bus wheat, 27,557 bus corn, 501 bus oats, 2,367 bus barley.

We condense the Press & Tribune's report of the market:

The continued light receipts of wheat, and the supposition that the stock of wheat on hand was insufficient to fill out the cargoes already engaged, caused quite an excitement in the market to-day, under which prices advanced fully 2c. The stock as announced this morning on the Board of Trade bulletin, was 119,000 bushels; and it was asserted that seven or eight vessels were engaged to take cargoes of wheat, which would clean the warehouses completely out. Under this state of feeling 90c was freely paid for No. 2 Spring at the opening, and under an anxiety to complete their cargoes, some shippers paid as high as 91c—closing in the afternoon at 90c. The sales amounted to about 45,000 bushels of all grades. Flour was dull and the market declined 10c, with sales of about 500 bbls at $4 20@4 75 for good to choice Spring Extras; $3@3 90 for Spring Super., and $6 for choice White Winter. Oats were in good demand, and prices advanced 1c, with sales of about 4,050 bushels at 29@30c for No. 1 in store. Rye scarce and wanted by distillers at 65@66c on the track. Barley dull and 3c lower, with limited sales at 59c for No. 1 in store, and 41@56c for lots on the track by sample. Timothy seed steady. Clover in request at $4 50. Dressed hogs in better supply, and market more active. Several lots were sold to packers, averaging from 160 to 210 lbs, at $5 12½@5 50. The receipts of live hogs to-day were large, and the packers purchased freely at $3 90@4 50 gross for poor to choice and heavy. At the close, however, there was less disposition to pay the extreme rates of yesterday and to-day, and the market closed rather heavy. The supply of cattle was also large, and for ordinary beeves, the market was dull and lower. Extra cattle, however, for shipment continue in fair demand at $3—some selling at even higher figures.—Good packing cattle with difficulty bring $2,50. There was no movement in the Provision market; but with a continuation of such receipts of hogs as we had to-day, the market cannot fail to be active in a few days. Tallow is firm, with a good demand for prime city at 10¼c—packers asking 10½c. Hides dull.

MARINE INTELLIGENCE.

THURSDAY EVENING, Nov. 17th.

THE WEATHER continues soft; wind W. S. W.; moderate.

THE STEAMSHIP DETROIT, after discharging her freight yesterday, went into dry dock south of Walker's Point Bridge, to have new iron plates put on her stem, preparatory to the winter's business. The iron for this purpose is the very best quality, such as is used in heavy boilers, and it is believed will be fully capable of demolishing any ice the Detroit may come in contact with during the winter. This job will take four or five days, and in the meantime the propeller Cuyahoga will run in connection with the Milwaukee.

VESSELS PASSING DETROIT during the 24 hours ending Tuesday noon:

UP—Bark B. S. Shephard; brig Empire State; schooners N. P. Goodell, Gertrude, Collingwood.

DOWN—Schooners S. B. Pomeroy, J. W. Sargent, Bay State.

During the 24 hours ending Wednesday noon the following vessels passed Detroit:

UP—Propellers Iowa, Omar Pasha, Cuyahoga; barks R G Winslow, Naomi, St. George; brig Globe; schooners Rocket, Traveler, Forest, Montezuma, J Hubbard, T P Handy, Cairo.

DOWN—Propellers, Iron City, Buckeye, Neptune.

LOST HER ANCHOR.—The Detroit Tribune says that the schooner Gertrude, bound up, came to anchor near Point au Pelee Island. The storm struck her with great fury; her chain parted, the windlass was broken, and her big anchor lost. Capt. MAYES immediately hove his vessel to, when she weathered the storm finely.

THE RECENT GALE ON LAKE ERIE.—The Buffalo Express, of Thursday, says:

We have as yet but few additional particulars of disasters by the recent gale. The propeller Pocahontas came in from Grevelly Bay, last evening. Captain Traverse reports a large fleet at that place, some badly disabled. He also reports a large fore-and-after, painted black, ashore above Point Abino, one ashore under the Point, and another riding at her anchors.—The schooner Sweepstake, ashore on the Canada side, is full of water. For some unexplained cause, we did not get our letter from Port Colborne, last evening, which would have contained a list of the vessels that had put in there for shelter. The report that the schooner Miranda was ashore in the Bay proves to be incorrect. She is ashore on the Canadian side.

The schooner Geo. Steele is ashore five miles above Grand River, Canada West. No particulars.

LIST OF VESSELS passing through the Welland Canal, furnished to the Board of Underwriters. The following vessels passed the Port Colborne Lock from 4 o'clock P. M. on the 12th till four o'clock P. M. on the 15th Nov:

Bound West—Nov. 12th, none; on the 14th, bark Fairchild; brig J H Harmon; on the 15th, brig W Lewis; schooners Sasco, Petrel, (Buffalo,) Twin Sister, Dane, W B Hibbard.

Bound East—Nov. 12th, schooner Norwegian; on 14th, propeller Akron; bark Sovereign of the Lakes; schooners Gerrit Smith, J A Hope, St. Andrews, Chas H Walker, Darien, Junius; on the 15th, schooner Ironsides.

PORT COLBORNE, Nov. 14.

The schooners Lewis Well, C North, Revolving Light, and J C Fremont are in this port for shelter, and the schooners Grace Murray and Chieftain are discharging at the elevator.

The Great Secret at Last Discovered !!
JUNIUS JUDSON,
PATENTEE AND MANUFACTURER OF
JUDSON'S PATENT
GOVERNOR VALVES, FOR REGULATING THE MOTION OF STEAM ENGINES,

WARRANTED THE MOST PERFECT Governor of Steam Power in the world, and like all really great inventions, the most simple. Manufactured by Judson & Snow, at Rochester, N. Y., Selye Buildings, near R. R. Depot.
☞ Shop Rights for sale.

CAUTION TO INFRINGERS.

Patent issued in the United States, Nov. 5th, 1850. Reissued, Jan. 4th, 1854. Second Patent, March 4th, 1851. Patented also in Great Britain and the Canadas, June 6th, 1851.

This improvement consists in making regulating valves to open with a rapidly increasing ratio of opening, by increasing the width of the opening made in the valve—or by accelerating the opening motion of the ordinary valves in use—or by combining increased width of opening, with accelerated valve motion. My patent Valves and Governors are so arranged as to give the resistance to the piston's motion, (or retard of the engine,) the power to open the valve just the exact amount of aperture necessary to counteract that resistance; and from the aperture, by the addition of equal amounts of resistance, notwithstanding that the action of the governor is continually decreasing in its effects.

I therefore reverse the action of valves combined with governors, as heretofore used. And as this effect can be produced by many different mechanical devices, (apparently not similar, but really identical with my improvement,) by which infringers have imposed upon the public, I therefore caution and request all persons interested, to examine carefully all alleged improvements in valves or governors, to see if the application of this truth or principle, first discovered and applied by me, is not involved in their arrangements;—and thereby prevent a fraud upon the purchaser and inventor, both of which are at present much annoyed by their piratical depredations. DR. CHURCHILL'S REMEDY.
WINCHESTER'S GENUINE PREPARATION OF THE HYPOPHOSPHITES
OF LIME AND OF SODA,
(Made from the Formula of Dr. J. F. Churchill,)
FOR THE PREVENTION AND CURE OF CONSUMPTION!

THE SUCCESS OF THIS NEW REMEDY, (discovered by Dr. Churchill, of Paris,) is obtaining the most UNBOUNDED POPULARITY throughout Europe and the United States. It is a purely SCIENTIFIC PREPARATION, and acts with INVARIABLE EFFICACY in all stages of Pulmonary and Nervous Diseases.

This Remedy has not only a curative effect, but will, if used wherever there exists a suspicion of the disease, PREVENT ITS DEVELOPMENT, and thus act, as a preservative with regard to Consumption, just as vaccination does with regard to small pox.

What the Medical Profession Say.

"In no instance have I found the Remedy to fail."—Dr. Churchill.

"I have used your preparation of the Hypophosphites with the most happy effect."—C. Fisher, M. D., Lowville, Ill.

"I have been astonished in witnessing the good effects of the Hypophosphites. The statements in your pamphlet are not at all exaggerated. My patient was just entering the last stage of tubercular consumption."—S. Moses, M. D., Hoosic Falls, N. Y.

"They exert an important remedial influence over the tubercular disease by imparting tone and strength and invigorating the nutritive functions."—Dr. W. E. Rust, Morristown, N. J.

"I have derived more satisfaction from the use of your Hypophosphites than from all other forms of medication combined."—Dr. Geo. W. Davis, Columbus, O.

"If, on the earliest appearance of the symptoms, the patient takes daily about ten grains of the Hypophosphites, he will speedily find himself in the enjoyment of such health as he, perhaps, had never known in his life before."

"Winchester's Hypophosphites are unexceptional in their preparation."—Am. Druggists' Circular.

"Mr. Winchester is worthy of all confidence and devotes himself enthusiastically to these preparations in all their variety of combination. * * * Prepared strictly by Dr. Churchill's method."—D. Meredith Reese, M. D., New York.

"LOWELL, O., July 5, 1859.—I have had several cases given up by attending physicians who are now exempt from all the symptoms of pulmonary disease.—I have used the Remedy in my own case, with decided success. It was regarded as hopeless by physicians and friends, and even by myself, under the 'old treatment.' I am now able to ride, in attending the sick, as many miles, perhaps in a day, as any other physician in the country."—W. F. Clark, M. D.

"The Hypophosphites are most appropriate Remedies in large class of affections resulting from loss of nervous force."—Boston Medical and Surgical Journal.

Dr. Churchill's Work on Consumption,
IS NOW READY.

The Hypophosphites may be used with more than success in Chronic Bronchitis, Asthma, Dyspepsia, and in all "Nervous" Disorders.

Make no Delay!

Consumptives, in any stage of the disease, should resort immediately to the use of the Hypophosphites of Lime and Soda. "Winchester's Genuine Preparation" (in simple syrup), in extra large bottles, is "chemically pure"; is the combination prepared by Dr. Churchill "for general use"; and is prepared according to his original Formula.

For sale, Wholesale and Retail, by HENRY FESS, Jr., Milwaukee, who is authorized to supply THE TRADE at New York prices.

MORE TO BE ADMIRED THAN THE RICHEST DIADEM
EVER
Worn by Kings or Emperors.

What? Why a Beautiful Head of Hair.

BECAUSE IT IS THE ORNAMENT GOD Himself provided for our race. Readers, although the rose may bloom ever so brightly in the glowing cheek, the eye be ever so sparkling, the teeth be those of pearls, if the head is bereft of its covering, or the hair be snarled or shriveled, harsh and dry, or worse still, if sprinkled with gray, nature will lose more than one half her charms. Prof. Wood's Hair Restorative, if used two or three times a week, will restore and permanently secure to all such an ornament. Read the following and judge. The writer of the first is the celebrated Pianist, Thalberg:

DR. WOOD: New York, April 19, 1858.

Dear Sir—Permit me to express to you the obligations I am under for the entire restoration of my hair to its original color; about the time of my arrival in the United States it was rapidly becoming gray, but upon the application of your "Hair Restorative" it soon recovered its original hue. I consider your Restorative as a very wonderful invention, quite efficacious as well as agreeable.

I am, dear sir, yours truly,
S. THALBERG.

"Drych a'r Gwyliedydd."
Welsh Newspaper office, 13 Nassau st.,
April 12, 1858.

PROF. O. J. WOOD:—Dear Sir,—Some month or six weeks ago I received a bottle of your Hair Restorative and gave it to my wife, who concluded to try it on her hair, little thinking at the time that it would restore the gray hair to its original color, but to her as well as my surprise, after a few weeks' trial it has performed that wonderful effect by turning all the gray hairs to a dark brown, at the same time beautifying and thickening the hair. I strongly recommend the above Restorative to all persons in want of such a change of their hair. CHARLES CARDEW.

New York, July 25, 1857.

PROF. O. J. WOOD: With confidence do I recommend your Hair Restorative, as being the most efficacious article I ever saw. Since using your Hair Restorative my hair and whiskers which were almost white have gradually grown dark; and I now feel confident that a few more applications will restore them to their natural color. It has also relieved me of all dandruff and unpleasant itching, so common among persons who prespire freely. J. G. KILBY.

PROF. WOOD—About two years ago my hair commenced falling off and turning gray; I was fast becoming bald, and had tried many Remedies to no effect. I commenced using your Restorative in January last. A few applications fastened my hair firmly. It began to fill up, grow out, and turn back to its former color, (black.) At this time it is fully restored to its original color, health, and appearance, and I cheerfully recommend its use to all.

Chicago, Ill., May 1, 1857. J. D. HOES.

The Restorative is put up in bottles of three sizes, viz: large, medium and small; the small holds half a pint, and retails for one dollar per bottle; the medium holds twenty per cent more in proportion than the small, retails for two dollars per bottle; the large holds a quart, forty per cent more in proportion and retails for $3.00 a bottle.
